

IFLC Member Meeting

January 15, 2025

12-1pm

In attendance: Steve Alderete with Thrivent, Jillian Wright with Chase, Marissa with Treasurer Ellsworth's office, Amber Dolphin King with Horizon Credit Union, Amy Rovig, Lisa Adams with the Idaho Bankers Association, Becca Peters with NowCFO, Gabby with Horizon Credit Union, April Durrant with HVD, Jayne Larson with AFC, Brenna Greenwood with CapEd Credit Union, and we were joined by the 4 teachers who received our scholarship to attend the National Jump$tart Conference: Shelly Heath, Billy Autry, Jeri Henley and Juanita Andrade

Board Introductions: We took some time to introduce the board, especially our newest additions being Jillian Wright and Evie Schriver. It was mentioned that we have an open Secretary position on the board and anyone interested should send their resume to the IFLC email address for consideration.

Review of our Pillars: Amber went over the 3 pillars that the coalition focuses on. Key takeaways were:

- Piggy Bank Beauty Contest entry period will be Feb 1-28 with all entries being online
- Savvy Women & Money Conference in Boise on February 10 - registration is open, free and required for attendance
- The Idaho Women & Their Money Conference in Northern Idaho will be host to 400 women on June 9th and they need speakers. If interested visit northidahowomenandtheirmoney.com
- The University of Idaho is hosting an Our Money Conference in April and that event will be free

Reports from the 4 teachers who attended the National Jump$tart Conference:

- Shelly Heath: Reported that she enjoyed the collaboration with like-minded peers, she loved the vendor time to get free supplies, she was treated like royalty and offered her thanks a long with the opportunity to share the resources she gained.
- Juanita Andrade: From Madison HS in Rexburg impacts about 120 students per year and brought back a lot of helpful material from the conference, she enjoyed the sessions regarding the importance of AI in personal finance and she received more relevant activities to implement for her students from the conference.
- Billy Autrey: From Lewiston HS in Lewiston loved the passion he saw from all the other teachers at the conference and he has already helped develop curriculum and a class for seniors in his district in North Idaho.
- Jeri Henley: She impacts about 180 students with the learnings from the conference, she also works with the Idaho Business & Education and shares resources and information from Jump$tart with that organization to continue the impact on Idaho's youth. She also mentioned that the CTE Connect Conference would be a good pace to present financial education information if anyone in our group was interested in providing that education.
